

Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Friday 04 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

South and east dry on Saturday, showers in the northwest.

This Evening and Tonight:

Central and eastern Scotland will remain dry with clear periods and turning chilly. Western Scotland will be cloudier and milder with patches of light rain, mainly along West Coast.

Saturday:

A lot of dry, bright weather with some sunshine. Clouds building with scattered showers breaking out, most frequent, heavier over northwest Highlands. Quite warm with light winds.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:

High pressure will bring mostly dry, settled weather although the chance of a few showers on Monday and Tuesday. Feeling warm in the sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.